MAD 3115
Exercise 4

Note Application

You are supposed to create a note application to add your notes to your application. The first view is a table view that is empty when you launch application. On the navigation bar you have two buttons; on the right there is a add button to add your notes, when this is clicked you go to the second view and you can add your notes. When you come back you should see your note. If you click on the cell you can go again on the second view to edit your note. By clicking edit button on the left side of navigation bar you can move or delete cells. Add the capability to your app that when you swap a cell, you can delete that as well. Here are screenshots of the app.
